Case No. civil-23032

CIVIL COMPLAINT

Presiding Judge: undecided

RESPONSE TO MOTION TO DISMISS

The Defense's Motion to Dismiss is unfounded and should be denied in full, except for the charge of Illegal Weapon Discharge, which the Plaintiff voluntarily withdraws due to insufficient evidence at this time. However, the remaining charges are well-supported by substantial evidence and cannot be dismissed.

Rebuttal of the Defense's Arguments:

1. Assault/Battery – The Defense concedes that the defendant restrained the Plaintiff but argues that prior detainment in Sochi resolves this matter. This is incorrect. The unlawful restraint was not an isolated misdemeanor but part of a larger pattern of abuse, which includes public humiliation, mistreatment, and extrajudicial punishment. Previous detainment does not absolve the defendant of responsibility for these actions.
2. Abuse of Tools & Abuse of Authority – The Defense claims that the defendant was on a "visitor team" and seeks to subpoena individuals to confirm this. However, the use of government-issued restraints and equipment is strictly limited to authorized personnel, demonstrating that the defendant acted with official resources. The attempt to rely on "visitor status" is an attempt to misrepresent the defendant's role and delay proceedings.
3. Organizing an Extremist Community – The Defense denies involvement in extremist activities, yet the evidence shows the defendant led or participated in a group that unlawfully detained, mistreated, and ultimately facilitated the execution of an innocent civilian. This is not a random incident—it is the result of a coordinated effort by individuals acting outside the law. The defendant's actions and the involvement of others he assembled substantiate this charge.

Conclusion:

The Defense's motion is a transparent attempt to avoid accountability. With the exception of Illegal Weapon Discharge, which the Plaintiff withdraws, all other charges are well-supported by clear and compelling evidence. The court must allow this case to proceed to ensure justice is served.
